Burner control unit BCU

Thank you for your inquiry about burner controls BCU.

For the exact identification of the device you need, we are unfortunately still missing information.

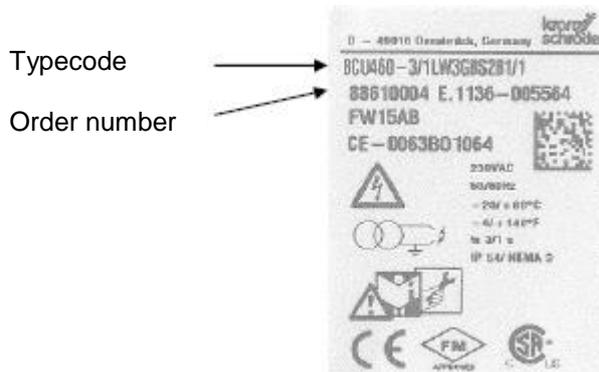

If it is a device that was manufactured and delivered until approx. mid 2011, then we need the following information from you:

- the 8-digit order number, beginning with 8463... .
- the parameter number, beginning with a P.

This information is indicated on the type label:

From the middle of 2011 there was a change in logistics, which changed the order numbers of the BCUs. Now there is only one material number left, which combines the old order number and the parameter number. The new order numbers also have eight digits and start with 8861... .

If you are unsure about reading the correct article number, please send us a photo of the type plate.
